Dr. Damon A. Williams
Senior Vice President, Program, Training & Youth Development Services
Welcome to Orlando, Fla., for the 48th Annual National Keystone Conference. What can happen when 1,600 teens and their advisors travel hundreds or even thousands of miles for a life-changing experience? They have the opportunity to create new ideas and influence the world!

Over the next three days, we will explore what it means to have a dream, what it means to be responsible with your dream, and what it means to lead yourself into the future. You will discover and rediscover what makes you unique in this world. Many of you will have an opportunity to engage in conversations with your peers during thought-provoking breakout sessions or while you’re climbing new heights on the rock wall during evening activities. Others will be challenged to collaborate with peers you’ve met for the first time and solve a challenge that an entrepreneur encounters in real life during career experiences. A few of you will strategize on the basketball court with a new friend during the sports tournaments to reach the goal — a basket, a free-throw or the win. No matter what the experience, embrace it — even it feels uncomfortable, or different. All of you will be inspired!

This weekend’s experiences are designed to celebrate your hard work, help you develop leadership skills for the 21st century, refine your personal brand (your swag), and inspire you to dream so that you are what others aspire to be.

We challenge you to Own Your Dream, Own Your Community, and Own Your Future. When you think of an idea, start believing that idea. When you start believing your idea, start achieving! Try something new, take a risk, and explore the person that you’ve dreamed of becoming this weekend. You deserve to #OwnYourMagic!

In Service,

Crystal E. Brown
Keystone Conference Manager

#OWNYOURMAGIC MURAL
Tell your peers how you will “Own Your Magic.” Use your artistic talents to encourage other Keystoners to “Own Their Goals, Own Their Decisions, and Own Their Futures!”

#OWNTHESTONE
To complement our theme, we challenge you to “Own the Stone.” Each day, we will tweet hints about the location of our KeySTONE for one of you to find during the conference. The first Keystoner to find the stone “Owns It,” and then will return it to the Keystone Conference Registration Desk to collect a prize. “Own the Stone” opportunities will be tweeted out multiple times a day, so stay tuned and see if you can “Own It.”

ADVENTURELAND COSTUME CONTEST (THURSDAY NIGHT)
Dress like you’re on a safari or on a treasure hunt like Indiana Jones. Prizes will be awarded to the best three costumes as voted by Keystoners. You are encouraged to be adventurous, but don’t make the natives angry by not following the dress code.

BEAM ME UP KEYSTONE COSMIC BALL (FRIDAY NIGHT)
You can leave that fancy dress and suit home this year because this year our Keystone Awards Dance will be a Cosmic Costume Ball. Transform yourself into an alien, astronaut, Guardian of the Galaxy or your own flavor of galactic get-up to show that you are out of this world. If you don’t want to wear a costume, then you can wear a t-shirt of your favorite movie, television show or other science-fiction-related characters to give them a shout-out. Because this is an awards dance, we’ll be awarding prizes to the top three Keystoners whose costumes are far out! Use your imagination but you must follow the dress code.

Please consider the following dress code for Thursday night’s Adventureland Costume Contest and Friday night’s Cosmic Costume Ball:

1. Shirts must have sleeves (short or long) and cut-off or half-shirts are not permitted.
2. Shorts, dresses, capris or pants; no garments shorter than 4 inches above the knee.
3. Shoes, sandals or other footwear must be worn at all times.
4. Costumes and t-shirts must not be offensive or contain profanity.

Note: Keystoners will not be able to go back to their hotel rooms to change after the evening general sessions.

No worries, you can wear a t-shirt representing your favorite movie, television show or other sci-fi character.
